Father Sullivan a Victim.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Dr. J. H. Sullivan, of No. 135 West Thirty-fifth street, has received tidings of the death of his brother, Father D. J. Sullivan, at Tampa, Fla., of yellow fever, September 24. Father Sullivan was born in Cork, Ireland, in 1850, and at the age of twenty-three was ordained. Three years later he was appointed a chaplain in the British army. He accompanied his regiment to Africa when Gen. Gordon began his warfare there.

The two were together during the campaign. Father Sullivan having been breveted captain. At the siege of Khartoum Father Sullivan was a participant, and it is claimed that he was the last person who saw the famous general alive. He also took an active part in the Zulu campaign and gained a gold medal for bravery in having undertaken a perilous journey to notify a stray division of the army who were firing upon their comrades of the mistake.

He was also present at the capture of Cetewayo, the Zulu king, and when he returned to England with his regiment Queen Victoria honored him with an audience and decorated him with a medal. Next Father Sullivan was resident priest of St. Helena island. He took great interest in the place and wrote its history. He also made a tour of the old world and had an audience with the pope. Three years ago he came to this country, and was stationed at Newark. He was assistant at St. Stephen's for about a month, and was also connected with St. Joseph's. At the breaking out of the yellow fever epidemic Father Sullivan went to Florida and assumed charge of St. Augustine's church. He was taken sick with the scourge and died six days after.

He Should Read the Papers.

CALISIA, Ill., Oct. 1.—William George, a wealthy farmer of Bas county, was robbed of $1,200 by two sharpers. The swindle was effected by the old lottery scheme.

REASONABLE AND NECESSARY.

What Mr. Thurber Says of the Latest Sugar Combine.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Mr. F. B. Thurber's attention was called Friday afternoon to a newspaper article which purported to give reasons for the attempt of the sugar trust and the wholesale grocers' combination to come together at this time.

"In the first place," said Mr. Thurber, after reading the article, "the grocers have simply tried to get a quarter of a cent a pound above the refiners' prices, because it costs us that amount to do the business. This article largely refers to the negotiations of the committee of the Wholesale Grocers' National association, and while I am not a member of that committee, from what I have been told by the members of it, they have not had any intention of forming a combination with the sugar trust.

"What they would like to do is to make some arrangement by which both sugar refiners in the trust and out of the trust (like Claus Spreckles) would try and help them handle sugars on a margin which would not net them a loss as in the past. The Grocers' association—local state and National—is as different as possible from a trust, and at the first meeting in order that there might not be a misunderstanding or mismanagement a resolution was adopted declaring that all that was sought was to prevent the evil of handling certain staples below cost of doing business, and that we are opposed to combinations for the purpose of extorting unreasonable profits from the public.

"It is unfortunate that the activity at this time should have had the effect to represent a reasonable and necessary organization as an unreasonable and rapacious attempt to form a trust. This is in the nature of an attempt to restore transportation rates after a railroad war, during which rates were depressed below the cost of the service, and from which, every one knows, there must come a reaction sooner or later."

A Chicago Bank Clerk Defaults.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—One of the clerks in the American National bank is a defaulter in the sum of about $5,000. The deficit was discovered late Friday afternoon, and a report gained currency in commercial circles that the young man had fled to Canada. President Dewey was called upon, and while admitting the facts given above, declined to give the clerk's name, saying the whole matter had been hushed up. The bank, Mr. Dewey said, would lose nothing, as it was fully protected by the American Security company. It is understood the young man has been speculating on the board of trade. A rumor was also circulated on the street that the American National bank had been caught somewhat in the Chicago wheat deal. Mr. Dewey denied this most emphatically, saying that none of his customers were in any way connected with that affair, nor had the bank advanced one dollar to any one who was.

High Enough Now.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Whether or not the price of bread shall be advanced to meet the recent increase in the prices of lard and flour will be decided at the special meeting of the Master Bakers' association that has been called for to-night. This question, although upon its face a local one, is in reality of National interest, for the same question is agitating the bakers of nearly all the large cities of the east and west, and there is little or no doubt that should the meeting to-night decide upon an advance in prices, it will be the signal for a general movement in the same direction throughout the country.

Two Miners Ground to Fragments.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 1.—A roof fell Friday night in the Grassy Island colliery at Oilphant, a short distance north of Scranton, instantly killing Christopher Gabriel and Martin Mahony and severely injuring Patrick O'Mahony. These men belonged to the night gang of miners and were engaged in removing a large piece of roof coal when the crash occurred. The piece they were trying to pry down was much less than that which fell upon the ill-fated workmen, and it completely overwhelmed them and by its immense weight ground their bones into fragments.

Bank Bookkeeper in Trouble.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Oct. 1.—Allen Whitacre, nineteen years old, who has been acting as assistant bookkeeper in the Hutchinson National bank, was held Friday in bonds of $6,000 to the district court on a charge of embezzlement of about $2,200. His plan was to get a check drawn by himself upon the Hutchinson bank cashed by merchants who did business with another bank, and in the clearing the check would come into his hands and be destroyed, he charging the amount to a depositor to make the cash balance.

Striking Switchmen Stand Firm.

DUQUOIN, Ill., Oct. 1.—The switchmen's strike here is still on, and with the end not yet in sight. No new men have been put on by the company. The strikers are very orderly and quiet. Trainmaster Hatter and Chief Clerk Standing are doing the switching, and but few freight trains are running, the yards here being blocked nearly all of the time. The men are taking matters easily, but seem determined not to go to work until their requests are granted.

Clendenning's Defense of Rio Grande City. AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 1.—A dispatch from Col. Clendenning, dated Fort Ringgold, September 26, has been received by Gen. Stanley at San Antonio, and sent to Governor Ross, says: "I have protected Sebrere and others from the mob. No property has been destroyed or depredations committed in Rio Grande City. Affairs are not so bad as represented."

Burglars Providing for Winter.

KOKOMO, Ind., Oct. 1.—Burglars raided O. E. Evans & Company's clothing store, entering by paying open a back window, and carried away twenty-five overcoats and other goods to the amount of $400. Armstrong, merchant tailor, occupying the same room was relieved of finished suits worth $125. No clew.

Burned to Death.

CARROLLTON, Ky., Oct. 1.—A distressing accident occurred in this county six miles east of here. Nellie, the eleven-year-old daughter of J. A. Vories, was burned to death, her clothing catching fire from the fireplace. No one was with her at home, save a five-year-old brother.

HE STILL HAS HIS GRIP.

JAY GOULD OBTAINS CONTROL OF ANOTHER RAILROAD.

This Time the St. Louis, Arkansas & Texas Is Added to the Already Long List Which Is Now Controlled by the Wily Wizard of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Jay Gould has once more shown Wall street that he has not lost his grip. Friday afternoon it leaked out that he had obtained control of the St. Louis, Arkansas & Texas Railroad company. This news of itself is perhaps not especially important, except to show how shrewdly Gould makes his moves, but, taken in connection with his fight with the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road, it shows that he has put himself in a position almost to dictate terms.

This road can be made a competing line with the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Northern. It is nearly a year since the foreign security holders of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road sent a committee here to ascertain why their securities had been steadily decreasing in value. This line is leased and operated by Gould's Missouri Pacific system, of which it was considered to be an integral part; but, while the Missouri Pacific was making good earnings, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas was apparently running behind, and the market value of its securities was steadily depreciating. This was supposed to be the result of one of Gould's schemes to get control of it for a low figure.

The committee on the American security holders formed a joint committee, but when they tried to investigate they were blocked by the Missouri Pacific people. Then they got control of the stock and ousted the Gould party. Since then the Missouri Pacific has allowed the Missouri, Kansas & Texas to default upon its bonds, and while the new administration has been trying to find out what its property was really worth proceedings have been taken for the appointment of a receiver. Jay Gould, however, while apparently an invalid quietly got control of the St. Louis, Arkansas & Texas, and if the new management of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas separates the road from the Missouri Pacific he can force a bitter fight.

It is not known upon what terms Mr. Gould made this purchase, but it is reported that he made a bargain with the second mortgage bondholders whereby they sold him the majority of the bonds and threw the stock in as a bonus. Mr. Coppell, of Mainland, Phelps & Company, is the chairman of the bondholders' committee, and, while he was not willing to talk, said that George F. Gould, Russell Sage and Gen. Fitzgerald, the latter connected with the Merchants' Trust company, would be taken into the committee, and this would give the Gould party the majority, as the committee only consists of five members. Those now on the committee besides Mr. Coppell are Mr. Mortimer, of Levi Hoffman & Company, Mr. Gernsheim and Frank Pendleton, there being one vacancy, but which men are to be displaced for the Gould party could not be ascertained.

United States Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—When the United States supreme court reassembles it is probable that almost the justices, except Mr. Stanley Matthews, who is ill, will be present. Immediately upon the opening of the court, Chief Justice Fuller will take the oath of office, and, after the transaction of routine business, the court will adjourn to call on the president. Tuesday the call of the docket will begin.

The are already 1,137 cases on the docket, and it is expected that this number will be increased to about 1,300 by the time the court meets. The first case to be called is what is known as the government Bell telephone case, which comes up from an appeal from the decision of the lower court sustaining the demurrer filed by the Bell Telephone company to the government suit.

The questions involved are strictly legal ones, and do not go into the merits of the case. If the decision of the lower court be sustained it will constitute an end to the government's case, but if this court should overrule the court below, the case will then go back for trial on its merits. There is a possibility that the telephone case, though at the head of the list, will not be first heard, on account of Justice Matthews' illness.

Justice Gray takes no part in the hearing, and there may be a disinclination on the part of the members of the court to proceed with the case with only seven justices, and they may postpone its hearing until Justice Matthews is able to resume his seat on the bench. Other cases which have been specially assigned for hearing early in the term are the Alabama color-blindness case, involving the constitutionality of the law requiring railroad men to be free from color blindness, and one of the familiar drummers' tax cases. Fourteen cases were taken under advisement when the court adjourned in May last, but if the usual custom should be pursued no opinions will be rendered in any of them until the third Monday after the reassembling of the court. The best known of these cases is the suit of Myra Clark Gaines against the city of New Orleans.

Thrown on the World.

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Oct. 1.—Rev. N. B. Ross was the recipient of rather an unusual donation about 9 o'clock Friday night in the shape of a nine-pound baby boy. Rev. and Mrs. Ross were returning home in a buggy when they passed a man driving rapidly toward Washington. They reached home and found a basket containing the baby, neatly clothed and about two hours old, upon the doorstep. The reverend gentleman sought to overtake the man whom they had passed, and springing into his buggy he made good time and saw where the man stopped. He notified the officers and they have got the case to a focus. A sensation is likely to follow when all the facts are known. The basket contained the following note: "Take this poor little babe in and care for it until morning; then take it to the Children's home."

Henry Clay and the Tariff.

Republicans frequently refer to Henry Clay as among the first and ablest advocates of a protective tariff. Undoubtedly the distinguished Statesman was in favor of a protective tariff, but he never advocated a high tariff, such as that which has been weighing down and burdening the people of this country since the war. In a letter dated September 13, 1842, he states his views on this widely-discussed subject. He says:

"The sum and substance of what I conceive to be the true policy of the United States in respect to a tariff may be briefly stated. In conformity with the principle announced in the Compromise Act, I think that whatever revenue is necessary to an economical government ought to be derived from duties imposed on foreign imports. And I believe that in establishing a tariff on those duties such a discrimination ought to be made as will incidentally afford reasonable protection to our national interests. I think there is no danger of a high tariff being ever established. That of 1828 was eminently deserving that denunciation. I was not in Congress when it passed, and did not vote for it; but with its history and with the circumstances which gave it birth I am well acquainted. They were highly discreditable to American legislation, and I hope, for its honor, will never be repeated.

"My opinion that there is no danger hereafter of a high tariff is founded on the gratifying fact that our manufactures have now taken a deep root. In their infancy as they grow and advance they require less protection. Even now some branches of them are able to maintain in distant markets successful competition with rival foreign manufactures."

The above letter was written to P. S. Bronson, of Georgia, and is published in "Sargent's Life of Henry Clay."

The tariff of 1828 referred to in the above letter amounted to 39.03 per cent. The present is 47.43 per cent. and the Mills bill proposes to reduce this to about 42 per cent. He was not in Congress in 1828, he says, and did not vote for the 39.03 per cent. tariff, "but," says he, "with its history and with the circumstances which gave it birth I am well acquainted. They are highly discreditable to American legislation."

And the great Statesman consoled himself at that day with the thought "there is no danger hereafter of a high tariff." Why? Because "our manufactures have now taken a deep root." This was in 1843, remember, and even then Mr. Clay asserted that some branches of them were able "to maintain in distant markets successful competition with rival foreign manufactures."

What would the great Commoner think, were he living to-day, of the tariff of 47.43 per cent? What would he think of the cry of monopolistic manufacturers who are demanding even more "protection?"

The statements expressed in the above letter justify us in the assertion that he would be among the most ardent advocates of tariff reform to be found and that his voice would be heard throughout the length and breadth of this fair land thundering denunciations at Blaine, Harrison and Morton, and their "robber barons" Carnegie, Ammidown and others of that ilk for attempting to longer continue such an oppressive system of high tariff.

COLONEL SWOPE has been unanimously nominated by the Republicans of the Lexington Congressional district to oppose the distinguished statesman Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge. Swope is no match for the "silver-tongued orator," and will be badly left on the 6th of November.

Says the New York Sunday Mercury: "Mr. Blaine and the Tribune keep on reiterating that wages are higher here than in England. So they are, and what of it? Wages are higher in New South Wales than in the United States; higher in Massachusetts than in New York; higher in free trade England than in protected France, Germany or Italy. The tariff in these three countries does not raise wages, nor does the absence of it in England and Belgium depress them. The tariff only taxes the consumers who, in this country, are the workers. American workmen are surely too smart to be frightened by this measly old Republican Mumbo Jumbo."

THE tariff ought to be carefully revised with a view to correct any inequalities or incongruities that have grown out of the change of values since the passage of the act of 1873; every imported article which does not compete with our domestic industry and is essential to the comfort and wants of our people should be placed on the free list; every raw material of industry, which does not compete with our own productions, should be especially selected for the free list.

The above was uttered by Senator Sherman in a speech last January. His voice is not heard in the present campaign for Harrison and Morton. His silence is significant. The sentiments expressed in the quotation above show that the distinguished Ohioan is in line with the Democratic party on the tariff question. It is asserted that Senator Sherman would like to see Harrison defeated.

FOR TARIFF REFORM.

The Party of the People Still Receiving Recruits From the Republican Ranks.

Prominent Manufacturers Declaring For Cleveland and Thurman.

Harper Dewey, one of the most substantial farmers of Sydney, N. Y., and a life-long Republican, will vote for Cleveland.

The Rev. J. H. Robinson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Delhi, N. Y., for over 25 years, and a life-long Republican, will vote for Cleveland. His son, now studying for the ministry, will also vote for Cleveland.

Walter Rutherford, of Franklin, N. Y., a law student, joined the Harrison Club, was made a member of the Executive Committee and was invited to address the club. While preparing his speech he changed his mind and is now out for Cleveland.

Dispatches to the Indianapolis Sentinel announce the following conversions to Cleveland and tariff reform: Thomas Fisher and John Mahan, farmers, near Paoli, Ind.; F. M. Whitaker and his two sons, and Esquire Parrett and his two sons, of Waynetown, Ind.; and Jacob Walker, of Greencastle, Ind.

Hon. Richard M. Morris, Ex-County Superintendent of Shelby County, Ind., who has been voting the Republican ticket for many years, has declared in favor of Cleveland and tariff reform. Calvin Butler, the head miller in Herring's mill, at Shelbyville, an old-time Republican, will also vote for Cleveland.

At Cleveland, Ohio, J. P. Dawley, a well known Republican attorney, addressed a Democratic meeting in behalf of tariff reform, and while declaring that he had not changed his politics, said that he refused to step backward with his party and declaring his willingness to "ride to the front in a chariot driven by Grover Cleveland."

Mr. J. C. Warner, who keeps a hotel and restaurant at Edinburg, Ind., and his four sons have announced their intention of voting for Cleveland and tariff reform. The old gentleman claims to be still a Republican, but says he cannot vote for the candidate and platform of that party, as they have gone back on the principles which they have advocated for years.

Orrin Lawton and his son Robert, brickmakers, and David Horn, a carpenter, all heretofore strong Republicans, have joined the Hendricks Club, at Arcadia, Ind., and will vote for Cleveland and Thurman in November. The Indianapolis Sentinel says these gentlemen are honest, hard-working men, and the Republicans have tried desperately to induce them to reconsider their course.

Dr. Edward Boeckmann, a prominent Norwegian physician of St. Paul, and one of the best posted Scandinavian students of political economy in Minnesota, has announced his intention of supporting Cleveland and Thurman. He says: "I am in hearty sympathy with the Democratic demand for lower taxes and the pledges made by that party in Minnesota to strive for them." Dr. Boeckmann has long been a Republican and is at present on the staff of Governor McGill. He is a man of influence and his manly stand for the cause of tax reform and honest government will attract widespread attention.

The Louisville Times says: "The Wheeler Sewing Machine Company, the Union Metallic Cartridge Company, the Cabinet Sewing Machine Company, the Bridgeport Brass Company, the Bridgeport Organ Company, the Bridgeport Patent Leather Company, the Warner Corset Company, the Pacific Iron Company and several other manufacturing concerns located at Bridgeport, Conn., have declared for Cleveland and Thurman and low taxes. They want cheaper raw materials and more extended markets. Cheaper iron and cheaper wood would enable our sewing-machine manufacturers to supply the world with the Howe invention that has become a necessary of life in all civilized countries, just as cheaper iron, cheaper steel, cheaper coal and cheaper wood would enable the Avery Company, of Louisville, to double the capacity of its plow works, double its force and advance the wages of its labor."

LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY COMPANY

Incorporated by the Legislature in 1868, for educational and charitable purposes, and its franchise made a part of the present State Constitution, in 1879, by an overwhelming popular vote.

Its Grand Extraordinary Drawings take place semi-annually, (June and December), and its Single Number Drawings take place on each of the other ten months in the year, and are all drawn in public, at the Academy of Music, New Orleans, La.

"We do hereby certify that we supervise the arrangements for all the Monthly and Quarterly Drawings of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, and in person manage and control the Drawings themselves, and that the same are conducted with honesty, fairness, and in good faith toward all parties, and we authorize the Company to use this certificate, with facsimiles of our signatures attached, in its advertisements."

HEAVY WAGER.

Editor Brown, of New York, Bets Twenty Thousand to Twelve on New York Going Democratic

The New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer says an election bet was made Saturday having nothing of the flavor of romance about it. The parties to the transaction were Colonel W. L. Brown, editor of the News, and Mr. Tilliston, of Massachusetts. In a discussion which had its origin in the Gilsey House Friday night, Brown offered to bet Tilliston $20,000 to $12,000 that the Democrats would carry New York State. Tilliston offered to accept the bet provided it was held open until next day. Brown accepted the terms and then made a bet of $500 that Tilliston would not appear to close it. However, Tilliston kept faith. The money was put up by each and deposited in a trust company for safe keeping.

JACK FROST.

Fully One-half the Tobacco Crop in This County Badly Damaged.

The frost and freeze yesterday morning seriously injured the tobacco crop in this section.

Colonel W. W. Baldwin thinks that fully one-half the crop in Mason County is badly damaged, if not entirely destroyed. In some places entire fields of the weed are ruined, while in other sections but little injury is reported. The greatest damage falls on the late crop and that in the lowlands.

The late corn is also damaged, but it is thought the injury to this crop will not prove very heavy.

Fashions for Men.

Many stylish young men are affecting the garrotte collar, which buttons behind. This collar promises to have a run as soon as cool weather season.

Patent-leather shoes are discounted by men of good taste except for evening use. They will be worn less extensively this fall than during the summer.

Simplicity is showing itself in the style of watch-guards. The judges of fashion are about unanimous in approving a small gold cable unadorned by any pendants.

Berlin collars are getting to be the fad among a class of fashionable young men, who, while eschewing American notions, have grown tired of the prosaic English styles.

The configuration on linen handkerchiefs will be small and light for the fall season. The large spots and designs in use last season are on the decline except in cheaper goods.

Silk handkerchiefs, like white satin ties, are looked upon with disfavor by the ultra fashionable on full dress occasions. Plain linen handkerchiefs will be the rule the coming season.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness, more economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 108 Wall St., New York.

CHINA BACKING THIBET.

THE SITUATION BECOMING VERY SERIOUS FOR ENGLAND.

As She May Be Compelled to Yield to Russia's Plan in the Balkans—An Italian Count Predicts a General War—Sunken in Danger—Other Foreign Notes.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Advices from India state that the British authorities have seized documents in the palace of the rajah of Sikkim, proving that the uprising of the Thibetans was directly incited by the Dalai, or chief lama of Thibet, and positively establishing the complicity of that potentate's Chinese advisers. The chain of evidence is said to extend from the Chinese authorities in Thibet directly back to the government at Peking, and it is expected that the latter will be asked by Lord Salisbury to explain the discrepancy between Chinese protestations of friendship for England and ignorance of lawlessness on the part of the Thibetans and the simultaneous fomentations of insurrection and invasion by officers of the Chinese government.

The fact is that although in peaceful times there is positively no interference by China with her remote provinces, yet when they are threatened, as the French found in Tonquin, the Celestial empire very suddenly awakes up and makes it very troublesome for the aggressor. There is not much doubt that she will repel the efforts of England to get into Thibet, and the situation becomes very serious for the latter, since it will afford Russia a most favorable opportunity to so embroil England in the east that she will be forced to yield in some measure to Russia's plans in the Balkans. That such plans are maturing there is not much doubt, and it is generally expected that a stupendous war is on the tapis in the spring. Count Nigra, the Italian ambassador at Vienna, in the course of a recent conversation on the political situation, said: "I expect a general conflagration. We shall, of course, be beaten, but we shall get back Nice and Savoy."

A Refuge for Politicians.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—With evictions in Ireland, the Parnell trial above the Tweed, Whitechapel murders in London and complications abroad, the normally quiet dependency of Wales would be a harbor of refuge for the politicians sated with turmoil or citizens weary of reading of disturbances and horrors were it not that the little principality nominally appertaining to the heir apparent gives promise of adding her proportion of events that will prove of grave importance to the incidents to be considered duly by the much perturbed British public.

English statesmen, though grateful for their quiescence, have hitherto treated the Welsh people as a parcel of stolid creatures from whom no trouble was likely to be expected, and who surely wanted nothing because they made no ado over any particular grievance. History should have taught them that there is a stubbornness in the Welsh character when once aroused, and an indomitable determination to have their real or imagined wrongs redressed when once become assured that they have been wronged that render them most formidable antagonists.

Ever since the disestablishment of the church of Ireland the Welsh have asked for a similar relief from tribute to a church which an overwhelming proportion of them hate or are indifferent to, and the Episcopal clergy there think that the evil times long foretold have surely fallen upon them since the quarter of Britain hitherto so docile has revolted against the domination of a system which the people there have come to consider and do not hesitate to proclaim a robbery.

There is no doubt that the Welsh will go very far, perhaps too far, in their efforts to bring home to the English mind that they have concluded to have nothing further to do with the established church, and to endure every penalty which the law can inflict before giving support to it. The setting fire to the house of an obnoxious rector near Denbigh, the burning of hayricks and outbuildings to other clergymen, the beating off of tithe-distraining officials prove the temper of the people, and the fact that women are prominent are gathering for the latter purpose is significant.

Mr. William O'Brien has undertaken a pilgrimage to Wales to fire the native heart against Saxon oppression. He will not likely confine his efforts to the larger towns, for outside them the people could better appreciate the manner than the matter of the orators' discourses and they appear to need restraint rather than incitement to violence. Disestablishment will come for Wales as it came for Ireland, but it is to be feared, not before blood has been shed over the capture, possibly, of a few tithe pigs, clamorously demanded as their dues for men whose profession is the inculcation of the doctrine of peace.

Banquet in Honor of William.

STUTTGART, Oct. 1.—A state banquet was given at the palace Friday evening in honor of Emperor William. The king of Wurtemberg, in proposing a toast to the health of the emperor, wished him a long and prosperous reign. The emperor, in reply, said: "I heartily thank your majesty, especially for the gracious invitation which brought me to the beautiful country which enjoys your blessed rule with such visible prosperity—the country which has supplied Germany with many famous rulers, and which was the cradle of my father. You must know that South German blood flows in my veins, as in those of each one of you. Actuated by these sentiments, I drink to the health of your majesty."

Professor Gefkenken the Man.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—The publishers of the Deutsche Rundschau have revealed the fact that the text of Frederick's diary was furnished by Professor Gefkenken, of Hamburg, an intimate friend of the late emperor, whose confidence he enjoyed. As he is a Conservative Liberal, it is not apparent why he permitted the diary to be published. It will be the object of the criminal investigation to discover that the Vienna press generally censures Bismarck's action, which is considered an effort on his part to root out from the German heart the memory of a liberal emperor.

East African Insurrection.

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 1.—The situation is unchanged. The insurgents openly renounced their allegiance to the sultan, on the ground that he had no power to transfer their country to the German company. The latter has been driven from nearly all points occupied by it, and the tribes are descending upon the coast in great numbers.

Serious Situation at Suakim.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—An official dispatch from Suakim says that the rebels are extending their trenches daily; that the fire from the garrison fails to dislodge them, and they must be driven out by assault. Reinforcements are urgently demanded.

Foreign Notes.

Mr. Biggar has written an open letter confirming the contradictory utterances of Mr. Justin McCarthy to the statements of Mr. Chamberlain, and bearing testimony to the facts that many of the Parnellite members have been heavy losers through their adhesion to the home rule cause, instead of amassing profits, as alleged.

The prefect of Paris has issued an order forbidding newsboys to cry anything in the streets excepting the titles of papers.

Gen. Boulanger has intimated that he will return to Paris on Thursday next, and that he will resume his daily receptions on October 9.

The man Garnier, who on August 29, shot one of the porters at the German embassy, in Paris, has been declared by expert physicians to be insane.

The Transatlantic Telegraph company will open to the public its new direct telegraph line between Valparaiso and Buenos Ayres October 1. This is an iron pole line in connection with the forty miles of cable laid under the perpetual snows of the Andes, and will insure communication between Buenos Ayres and London, via Galveston, inside of an hour and a half.

"OLD HUTCH" GETS CRANKY.

And Refuses to Sell His Wheat Less Than $2 a Bushel.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The Daily News says: "Old Hutch" had one of his cranky spells on this morning. To a reporter who asked him for the price on September wheat, he bridled up like a mad bull: "You don't want to buy any wheat," he said. "Go along about your business. Don't come around here annoyin' us."

From other sources it was learned that he had no wheat for sale at less than $2 per bushel. The official reporters in the wheat pit were not sending out this quotation at the opening, for the reason that there were no sales at that price made openly in the pit. The St. Louis wheat did not get in yesterday, or if it did it was not inspected, as only one car of contract wheat was inspected on the Chicago & Alton, two cars on the Illinois Central and none on the Wabash. December wheat felt the effect of the rise in September. It opened at ninety-nine and three-eighths cents, which was seven-eighths cents above the close last night.

September wheat opened at $1.60, October brought ninety-nine and three-fourths cents.

At St. Paul and Minneapolis.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 1.—The great rise in September wheat in Chicago has created an unusual degree of excitement in St. Paul and Minneapolis grain circles, but as a rule the dealers are jubilant. Michael Moran, of St. Paul, is reported to have made $150,000, and others have realized handsomely.

One young man in Minneapolis sold out 20,000 bushels Thursday at a profit of twenty-six cents a bushel. Minneapolis dealers generally seem to have been on the right side of the deal or out of it altogether. The millers and all holders of wheat, of course, profit largely.

No Room For Socialists.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—District Assembly, No. 24, Knights of Labor, recently selected George Schilling, the well known Socialist, as a delegate to the National assembly, which meets in Indianapolis. Members of the Local Assembly, No. 400, and others who opposed the choice made formal protest to the general master workman, alleging as a cause of dissent that a number of the assemblies which voted for the delegates were ineligible from the fact that they had not paid their dues to July 1, as required. Mr. Powderly, in his reply, finds the objection well taken, and declares that the district will have to hold another election.

Chloral For a Bee's Sting.

MONTPELIER, Ind., Oct. 1.—A fifteen year-old son of James Alexander, nine miles northwest of this place, was stung by a bee. A short time afterward he went to Poneto, three miles west. When the boy got to town the sting hurt him so that he went to a doctor, who administered chloral, seemingly without effect, until five doses had been given, when the youth dropped off the chair on which he had been sitting and expired in a short time.

Wealth of Arab Beggars.

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 1.—Two exceedingly filthy Arabs, attired in American clothing, were arrested late last night for vagrancy. They had made themselves obnoxious by their pitiful solicitations for money. One of them essayed the role of a cripple, which he dropped as soon as he was arrested. Upon searching them, something they strenuously objected to, over $100 in cash was found in belts on their persons.

C., Oct. 1.—The governor has respite until October 6, Ephraim Mayes, was to have been hanged at Edgefield, for the murder of Jake Burt, an aged deaf mute, and has pardoned Chaney Burt, the murdered man's daughter, and commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of Louise Burt, wife of the victim. Both the women had been sentenced to death for complicity in the murder.

The stock market this morning was active and strong prices advanced steadily from the opening to the closing hour. New York & New England, Reading and Louisville & Nashville were especially active and led the upward movement. The bank statement, which was favorable, showing an increase in the reserves of $2,814,450 helped materially to strengthen prices. The advance ranged from 1/4 to 3/4 per cent. The sales amounted to 250,178 shares, which was the largest amount of stock traded in for any Saturday for a year past.
